

CPD course in Human Factors and Ergonomics

CPDSH06-TFSM9020

The School of Food Science and Environmental Health in Technological University Dublin now offers a Continuing Professional Development (CPD) module in Human Factors and Ergonomics.

This CPD can be taken as a standalone module or studied as part of a Masters in Health, Safety & Human Factors.

This CPD module also allows entry to the Irish Human Factors and Ergonomics Society by professionals who have already been awarded TU Dublin's MSc in Environmental Health & Safety.

To apply, please register at this link prior to the 12th of February for entry in March Delivery will be online with synchronous and asynchronous activities including continuous assessment. Tuition will take place on five consecutive Wednesdays from 10am till 5.00pm

Eligibility for membership of the IHFES as Registered Member

The CPD module can be used to support membership application of the Society to support skills to meet the full eligibility criteria. Contact chiara.leva@tudublin.ie for further information in this respect before registering if this is your primary reason for sitting this course.

Deadline for registration

12th of February of the academic year.

Link to register Registration form

Commencement date

March of the academic year.

Delivery

Online with synchronous and asynchronous activities including continuous assessment.

Duration

6 hrs per week (on Wednesday) for 5 weeks.

Availability

Spaces are offered on a first come first served basis. Spaces are limited.

Fee

€600

For further information contact:

Dr. Maria Chiara Leva

T: +353 (0)1 2205664

E: chiara.leva@tudublin.ie

W: www.tudublin.ie/study/postgraduate/courses/environmental-health-and-safety

Infinite Possibilities